UNIQUE COLLEGE EVENTS WITH TV'S TOP STARS

All discussions include a Q&A/meet and greet so that students can interact with the celebrities directly!

Over 400 more celebs (from shows such as Project Runway, Real Housewives, Real World, Bachelor/ette, Jersey Shore, Biggest Loser, America's Next Top Model, American Idol, etc.) are available at our website.

LGBT ROUNDTABLE – WITH ALL FOUR LETTERS REPRESENTED!

Katelynn, JD, and Ruthie – Real World: Brooklyn and Hawaii

In this unprecedented lecture roundtable, you can bring Real World cast members that represent ALL FOUR LGBT LETTERS to show the amazing level of diversity within the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender community – they may not agree on everything, but they do encourage your students to make up their own minds on these complex topics! Ruthie represents the lesbian perspective, JD covers the gay male viewpoint, and Katelynn is both transgendered and bisexual. The three of them share their coming out stories, discuss the state of LGBT culture/community, and confront and debate the issues of tolerance.

MY EXPERIENCES AS AN HIV POSITIVE SURVIVOR

Mondo Guerra – Project Runway 8 and All-Stars

As one of the breakout stars of Project Runway's eighth season, Mondo shocked the world with his tearful admission of his HIV positive status. Hiding his disease from his family and friends for so long, he finally found the courage to admit his status on international television. Mondo now travels the country lecturing on his experiences as an HIV positive male, why social stigmas caused him to keep his illness a secret for so long, how to avoid infection, and the effects of HIV (both mental and physical).

Mondo's incredible discussion about living with HIV is a story that you and your campus won't soon forget!

THE STRUGGLES OF A TEEN MOM (AND BEYOND)

Maci Bookout – Teen Mom & 16 and Pregnant

After appearing on the hit MTV show Teen Mom, Maci became a fan favorite on the series. Maci gave birth to her son Bentley at the age of 16, potentially putting the brakes on her ambitious plans for college and socializing - but Maci decided to not let that happen. Maci talks about how teen motherhood made her even more determined to follow her dreams, continue her education, and juggle the role of being a mother while bettering herself. Although Maci's message will strike a chord with the parents and nontraditional students studying on your campus, she inspires every student to maintain a positive outlook despite the curveballs life can throw you.

PROJECT RUNWAY FASHION WORKSHOPS AND DISCUSSIONS!

Reel Management is proud to present our Project Runway cast members, now ready to come to your school! They can perform lectures on the fashion industry, dish all the gossip about their show, and even give tips and advice for your students looking to become the next Calvin Klein. There are other options that can 'make it work', including judging a student fashion show or doing a fashion workshop. Our fashion workshop lets students display their designs while our cast members give them tips for improving their work. Prices vary depending on the cast member, don't let this awesome opportunity slip by!

GAY SUICIDE AND BULLYING: A HORRIBLE EPIDEMIC

JD Ordonez – Real World: Brooklyn and the Cutthroat Island Challenge

JD Ordonez's new lecture shines a spotlight on the current, horrific trend of LGBT suicide and bullying. JD focuses on the societal aspects of LGBT bullying, how to see the warning signs leading to suicide, provides personal insights into the hardships he's faced being a gay male, and tries to give students some long-term perspective on the problem. JD approaches the topic by acknowledging the issues that LGBT students face, while showing them ways that they can find the strength to overcome them.

BATTLING BULIMIA – A PERSONAL STORY

Alexis Bellino – Real Housewives of Orange County

All the drama and feuding on Bravo's Real Housewives of Orange County couldn't have predicted Alexis Bellino's heartfelt admission that she suffered from bulimia before appearing on the hit show. She candidly revealed that she binged and purged after dealing with her parents' divorce, continuing the behavior through college, and well into adulthood. From her descent into bulimia, to her awareness of the disease, to her admission and recovery, Alexis tells it like it is to go through a devastating illness - and how you can watch for the signs of eating disorders within your campus, circle of friends, and even yourself.

BREAKING DOWN BARRIERS – A PLUS SIZE FIGURE IN A SIZE ZERO WORLD

Whitney Thompson – America's Next Top Model (Winner!)

Women around the world cheered when Whitney Thompson became the first woman to win America's Next Top Model without being a size 0. In this inspiring discussion group, Whitney talks about how she never let self-esteem, body image, or society hold her back. She delves into the lessons outside the classroom that young people of all shapes, sizes, and colors should learn so they can avoid falling into the downward spiral of pleasing others. Whitney leaves your students inspired, confident, and ready to take on the world after hearing the ways they can deal with their own self-esteem and body image - no matter what their shape.

POLITICAL ACTIVISM: HOW TO GET INVOLVED AND BE HEARD

Mike Manning – Real World: DC

During his participation in the Real World: DC, Mike created an impressive resume that catapulted him to a leader for many social issues in Washington. Mike worked with the Human Rights Campaign, meeting with Congress members and assisting to pass important legislation such as the Employment Non-Discrimination Act. Mike continued his work by organizing grassroots campaigns for the Energy Action Coalition. Now his stories are available to educate your campus on how to get involved. Mike provides inside details on how Congress and politics work, teaching students how to find their voice and be a part of the debate.

EXPERIENCES FROM THE FRONT LINES OF THE IRAQ WAR

Ryan Conklin – Real World: Brooklyn

During his appearance on Real World: Brooklyn, Ryan Conklin was known for enlisting in the Army at age 17 in the aftermath of 9/11. The world saw Ryan receive his notice recalling him to duty, showing a personal side of the war that had never been aired before. Ryan discusses the war bluntly as a gritty but funny memoir from a grunt's perspective, revealing what the war is really like day to day - the boredom, absurdity, horror, and even moments of grace. Note that this lecture is neither pro nor anti-war and is not intended to be a debate. We want your students to get the facts and learn about the lifestyle of our troops overseas.

ALCOHOL/SUBSTANCE ABUSE

Ruthie and Joey – Real World: Hawaii / Hollywood & Celebrity Rehab Project

After publicly battling her alcohol problems on The Real World, Ruthie has come out on top. Since the show aired, she has overcome her issues and now explains how crazy life can get when alcohol and drugs take over. Joey's struggle continued after the show, appearing on Celebrity Rehab Project to get himself sober. By bringing Joey and Ruthie to your campus they can discuss the detrimental effects of alcohol/substance abuse while inspiring student to find healthy, constructive outlets for having fun. They each have different perspectives on the process of sobriety, showing the personal side of alcohol rehabilitation.

SHATTERING THE SILENCE: FROM VICTIM TO SURVIVOR (SEXUAL ABUSE)

Sarah Rice – Real World: Brooklyn & Real World/Road Rules Challenges

Sarah shocked audiences when she revealed how she had suffered sexual abuse at the hands of her father and teacher. She quickly realized the importance of speaking out, empowering herself to not be a victim in such a horrible situation. Sarah educates students on how she changed her mindset from victim to survivor, discussing her experiences and the personal side of sexual abuse. Her lecture is surprisingly motivational as well; she explains how putting together her life's broken pieces allowed her to realize her strength - and how your students can be inspired to do the same when tragedy strikes in any form.
